

October 6-7, 2016 • 8:30am—4:45pm (registration at 8:00am)

South East Area Health Education Center (SEAHEC) | Seagull Classroom

2511 Delaney Ave | Wilmington, NC 28403

Program Description

This two-day course is an overview of interventions that emergency nurses use to promote quality care for their patients. Using the nursing process to enhance physical and psychological well-being in patients and their significant others is inherent in the role of the emergency nurse. Taking this course will provide those sitting for the Certified Emergency Nurse (CEN®) exam with valuable information to promote success and will include practice exam questions. This is a fast paced, intense review course for nurses planning to take the CEN® exam within the next 3 to 6 months.

Faculty

Ann White, RN, MSN, CCNS, CEN, CPEN

Ann White has been an emergency nurse since 1985. She has held staff, management and clinical specialist positions in several hospitals in Wisconsin and North Carolina.

She is currently the Emergency Services Clinical Nurse Specialist at Duke University Hospital, Department of Advanced Clinical Practice and Clinical Associate at the Duke University School of Nursing.

Objectives

At the end of this program, participants should be able to:

- Describe strategies to prepare for taking the CEN® exam;
- Relate the pathophysiologic basis of various disease states to appropriate emergency nursing assessment, planning, and implementation;
- Identify outcome criteria and evaluative criteria used by nurses to determine effectiveness of nursing care for emergency patients;
- Outline the legal, ethical, and professional responsibilities inherent in being an emergency nurse caring for a variety of patients.
